First Appearance of : The Puppet version of the Test Card

Trivia :

Scott is wearing a Santa hat in the intro page image.

Scott has a colour changing lightbulb so the background lighting constantly changes.

Scott, Alan & Bjorn all appear via zoom during the "Twelve Days of Doonimas" segments.

The Devil is wearing novelty Xmas Glasses in "Arse On Fire".

The "She's From Dodworth" video has a spliced in Keytar solo from another show as Alan had selected that as the reason for picking the song but the show that was used didn't feature the keytar solo!

Morris (in Elf hat) and Gervais are backing dancers in "All The Dinner Ladies".

The Xmas Single has raised £500 so far in aid of the Motor Neurone Disease Association.

The "Somebody To Love" live video switches to a studio version due to poor sound on the live recording and a selection of photos from the Panto shows across the years 2015 - 2019 are shown.

A new version of the Big Neet In Test Card is debuted which has added in Emu, Sooty, Sweep, Gloria, Morris (and apple) and Barnsley Bob Ross onto the regular Test Card of Scott at the chalk board.

Quotes :

"I don't know why I showed you my crotch"

"The Duracell bunny of all Christmas songs"

"I thought it'd be amusing there if Sherger had the voice of Tom Waits"

"You bring the sex to the outfit" (Bjorn to Alan)

"It's like being on Playschool"

"You're not meant to carry the monkey"

"You've lost the monkey Amanda"

"I just slurped that's never a good thing"

"I've got Bagpuss in the background, that should be enough for anyone" (Gloria)

"It's a family show, Amanda, you can't have that!"

"None of that was appropriate" (Amanda)

"Amanda's got her bells out now"

"(Gasps) That is so wrong, I cannot believe you just said that. That was inappropriate!" (Amanda reacting to Scott quite innocently saying "It was like Santa just came")

"Where'd we get the Percy Pig bag from?"

"Thanks for your support all year, you guys have been absolutely shit hot. I think we've more or less got through most of 2020 together which is nice, I think there's something nice about the power of community and that sort of thing"

Scott's Tank Top Badges : None – Scott is wearing a Pac-Man Xmas jumper

Pre-Show Nerves : (Length: 05:01)

Records Played:

Screamager (Therapy)

General:

Tonight's Boxing Day special opens with focus on a red vinyl with green centre and silver razor blade, which wouldn't seem amiss in the record collection of a certain Tommy Shelby.

Scott sets it spinning and Therapy's Screamager booms out...no doubt rousing a few unsuspecting Big Neet In'ers from their post-Christmas dinner-booze-dinner-more booze slumbers.

He's dressed to the nines this evening in a very snazzy purple Pacman Christmas jumper.

Alan and Bjorn will be making an appearance in tonight's show.

BNI #40 is the Doonicans' 1074th show in total.

Fan roll call.

Scott's glad some fans are here and not watching "that bloody Masked Singer thing".

41 people are viewing at around 02:20.

More roll call.

"Hope everybody's Christmas was as ok as it could be...given the circumstances. Er, I know the whole tier thing, erm, probably bollocksed it up fer some of yer...but yer know, this year's bin pretty much bollocksed anyway...so, yer know, as long as y'all stay safe, it dun't really matter, does it."

50 people are viewing at 03:28.

Tonight's main show could be a late one.

"Hope you had...had a festive enough Christmas. And that yer all ready fer a bit of a laugh and a bit of a singalong...and a bit of, er, yer know...just summat daft tonight. Cuz, yer know, we're here as a bit of light relief in amongst all the Brexit bullshit that's goin' on as well."

He chuckles.

Reminds fans to tune in on YouTube at 8 o'clock "on the dot" for the main show and to tell their friends.

Ends: "Don't watch The Masked Singer...it's shit."

Aftershow : (Length: 27:52)

Location: The campervan

Songs Played:

May You Never (John Martyn)

Born To Run (Bruce Springsteen)

Luka (Suzanne Vega)

Size Of A Cow (The Wonder Stuff)

Shit Raffle Winner: Michelle Burton, Daniel Jervis & Sara Gratton

General:

Scott opens: "I'll tell yer what, it's blowin' a chuffin' hoolie out there...it's 'orrible." (Laughs)
"Welcome to windy Barnsley."

Luckily, he has had wise enough foresight to put the heater on "int van" beforehand.

Nearly knocking his beer over in the process, Amanda attempts to plonk a shiny Christmas party hat on him.

"That looks splendid," he responds. "We're now officially in Christmas party mood."

Scott swings the camera around to show Amanda's Christmas apparel, a red pullover with a loud spiky white sequined speech bubble proclaiming "Ho Ho Ho" in the middle. A brisk rub of her hand upwards over the sequins renders them black, revealing a different phrase: "Yo Yo Yo." She too sports a shiny Christmas party hat.

60 people are tuned in at 01:20.

Scott's going to be doing Deserted In Lockdown Discs with Gail Something-Else on Monday.

His mum pops in on the chat.

And Bjorn's grandma.

After mulling over Trotsky's recent Deserted In Lockdown Discs interview and mention of The Cardiacs, Scott regales a story about a time he and Amanda went to see The Wildhearts and was "pretty damned sure" Jon Poole (who had once been a member of The Cardiacs) was checking out Amanda. Apparently she was wearing leather trousers at the time. Amanda then reveals that at the same show a small person was suspended from a meat hook. It was Circus Of Horrors, who were the support act. At first Scott thought it was all a big hoax, but the small person later walked past him on her way to the bar and he noticed she had blood on her back!

"Keeping it light," Scott moves on.

100 people are watching at around 6 minutes in.

Big shout out to Alan & Bjorn for their part in tonight's main show.

Scott's Christmas single has raised £525 for the Motor Neurone Association.

Addie Burns is on the thread and, some moons ago, nicknamed Scott Moonface.

First song of the aftershow, John Martyn's May You Never.

Second song, on the uke, Born To Run, by Bruce Springsteen.

Scott: "Rain, rain, more rain...and applause. Cheers!"

Next up, the beautifully sad song, Luka by Suzanne Vega.

And to close, the most delightful ditty that is The Wonder Stuff's Size Of A Cow.

There will be a Hootenanny..."Hoootttennannnnny!!!" on Thursday night.

Bit more chit chat.

Ends.
